Most of us are far from perfect in virtue. But even those who come far closer to perfect virtue than most of us--people like Mother Theresa, Martin Luther King, Jr., or Gandhi--nonetheless fall short of possessing it: not even moral saints and heroes are perfectly virtuous. Faced with this fact, moral philosophers can respond in two different ways: they might insist that the only real virtue ...

Heroes and Saints DONALD DEMARCO The saint, because he is real, fully faithful, permanent, and transcultural, is the best role model for children. It is a truism that children need role models. Parents, surely, are solemnly obliged to fill this role. But children also need models that are larger than life.
